Coming to you this November, we are bringing to you an exciting range of conferences with a focus on building happiness and resilience among the youth of today. This series of conferences will be held over 4 sessions, from 17th – 19th November 2016, aiming to reach out to various groups of individuals involved with youths, from educators to AED counselors, ASEAN youth leaders and parents of young children.

Focusing on different topics, each session hopes to be a platform to not only spread awareness but also to allow these individuals to network and share with others the difficulties and challenges they face in their encounter with the new generation of youth in their family, schools, and the community. Amidst all the information and sharing, we will also be launching and unveiling the direction that we will be adopting in the future.

Therefore, GET SET, and BE READY to pick up skills and knowledge from our distinguished guests as we set out to make a better future for the generations to come.

No fee will be required for registration before 31st October 2016 . However, there will be a penalty fee of $80/participant for No-Show and registration after the deadline.

So, sign up today and get ready to dive into the creation of a better future together.
